

General Medical Certificate

Who should use this form?

Applicants for entry to New Zealand are required to have an acceptable standard of health (the leaflet Health Requirements (INZ 1121) has more details). This medical certificate records information about your health that Immigration New Zealand requires to assess whether you meet this standard.

Deciding whether you are eligible for a visa

Immigration New Zealand collects the information about you on this form to decide whether you are eligible for a visa. We may also use the information to contact you for research purposes or to advise you on immigration matters.

Collecting the information is authorised by the Immigration Act 2009 and the Immigration Regulations made under that Act. You do not have to provide the information, but if you do not we are likely to decline your application.

Immigration New Zealand may also share the information you have provided with other government agencies that are entitled to it by law, or with other agencies (as you have agreed in the declaration).

You are able to ask for the information we hold about you and have any of it corrected if you think it is necessary. The address of Immigration New Zealand is PO Box 3705, Wellington, New Zealand. This is not where your application should be sent.

Applicant's notes

The information in this section will help you complete this certificate. Please read the information in this section before you start to complete this certificate. If you wish, you can tear off and keep these notes (pages 1-2).

When do I use this immigration medical certificate?

You must use this certificate if:

- you are applying for a temporary entry class visa for New Zealand and you intend to stay longer than 12 months, unless you are applying for a military visa, diplomatic, consular or official visa, or a visa related to the Antarctic Treaty, or
- you are applying for residence, unless you are a person who must use the Limited Medical Certificate (INZ 1201). The leaflet Health Requirements (INZ 1121) has more information.

What if I submitted a medical certificate with my last application?

You may not need a new medical certificate if you have submitted a medical certificate completed and dated by a medical practitioner within the last 36 months with a previous application, and that information has been retained by Immigration New Zealand*. If a new certificate is required, you are responsible for any fees.

Where do I go to get my immigration medical examination?

In countries where Immigration New Zealand has an approved list of panel doctors this certificate must be completed by a listed medical examiner. Please see our website at www.immigration.govt.nz/paneldoctors to find your nearest panel doctor.

If you live in a country which does not have any panel doctors, a registered medical practitioner, preferably your own general practitioner can complete this certificate.

In New Zealand any registered medical practitioner is able to complete this certificate. If you do not have a doctor

* Immigration New Zealand does not necessarily retain medical information about applicants.

please refer to the telephone book for a list of general practitioners near you.

Your responsibilities

- You must pay the fees for the immigration medical examination, any tests required and all postage and courier fees.
- You must tell the truth. False statements on a medical certificate may result in your application being declined, any visa granted being cancelled, and if you are in New Zealand, you being required to leave the country.

How do I prepare for my immigration medical examination?

- If you are mildly unwell or on a short course of antibiotics, wait until you are better before having your immigration medical examination.
- Do not have alcohol or high fat meals 48 hours before your blood tests.
- Do not consume kava for 48 hours before your blood tests.

What do I bring?

- This certificate with sections A and I completed, and your name at the top of each page where indicated.
- Your valid passport or national identity document for identification.
- Three recent passport photographs. Photographs must be no more than six months old.
- A list of all your medications (including drug name and dosage).
- All your medical notes and reports, immunisation record, blood test results, X-rays, scans and anything else that is relevant to your health.
- Your glasses (spectacles) or contact lenses if you use them.
- You may bring a family member or support person with you to the immigration medical examination. Please let the doctor know when you make your appointment.
- You may bring an interpreter with you to the immigration medical examination. The interpreter can be from a professional service or a respected member of your community. Please let the doctor know when you make your appointment.

What to expect for the immigration medical examination

There are three parts to the immigration medical examination:

1. Medical history and physical examination.
2. Urine and blood tests.
3. Chest X-ray, to be completed using the form Chest X-ray Certificate (INZ 1096); the leaflet Health Requirements (INZ 1121) has more details.

The medical certificate must be completed in English.

- The medical history section (Section B) must be completed by the medical examiner or delegated person. If you are not sure about an aspect of your medical history, declare it.
- The doctor will complete the physical examination. He or she will check your height, weight, mental state, hearing and vision, listen to your heart, lungs, feel your abdomen and check your reflexes, power and the rest of your nervous system.

- You will need to remove some items of clothing for the physical examination.
- Some parts of the physical examination may be completed by a nurse or health care assistant.
- You will need to provide a urine sample during the immigration medical examination.
- You will also need to get blood tests, a chest X-ray and possibly some other tests if clinically necessary.
- You may need to go to different places to get some tests done.

Women

- Do not have your immigration medical examination during your period (menstruation) because blood may affect the results. Wait until your period is finished before you have your immigration medical examination.
- Women over 45 years will need to have a breast examination. If you prefer, you can submit a breast examination report from a breast specialist, or submit a breast ultrasound scan, MRI scan or mammogram no more than six months old.

Children

- All children including babies must have an immigration medical examination.
- Children under 11 years of age do not need a chest X-ray unless the doctor declares it is necessary or one is requested by Immigration New Zealand.
- Children under 15 years of age do not need a blood test unless the doctor declares it is necessary or one is requested by Immigration New Zealand.

What happens afterwards?

- Your doctor has to wait for all your test results to complete the form.
- Your application form is complete only when all the test results and specialist reports have been completed and attached and the doctor has completed all sections of the form.
- You must lodge your completed immigration medical examination, including all blood tests, and X-rays [Chest X-ray Certificate (INZ 1096)] and any other tests, within three months of the date the doctor signed the completed application form.
- Your application will be assessed by Immigration New Zealand, and possibly by a medical assessor.
- You may be required to get further specialist reports or tests. You are responsible for paying for these.
- Your medical information may be retained by Immigration New Zealand for use when assessing the applicant's health in the future or for audit reasons.
